ARGUMENT FOR CHANGE NOT CONVINCING

Individual Kentuckians and various organizations and agencies have been busy now for months past trying to sell the lay voter on changing the State Constitution, or not changing it. The advocates of a change have, of course, been at it longer than those who are willing to "let good enough alone."

Not being a lawyer, or what could be called a close student of government, we have kept an open mind concerning this matter. We have been waiting for somebody to sell us, on something. Either we must be a poor subject, the "salesman" not so good, or the foundation of our governmental system not so bad. At least, we are about where we were several months ago.

Some people are willing to call anything new progressive, while others are afraid of any way but the old way. Let's admit that there might be a possibility of improving the Constitution (other than by amending it) by writing a new one. On the other hand, it would be difficult for anyone to deny that there is a possibility of damaging our present setup.

One man said the reason for amending the Constitution is too slow; the people won't vote for some needed progressive measures. Well, after all, we are supposed to be a democracy. We-old muckabooks-either need some more education, along this line, or we need to have some "know" some better leadership on the part of those who "know" what's better for us.

Obviously, the Constitution needs altering enough to enable it to serve the needs of a new economic era. But it occurs to us that those advocating a change, generally, in private are wanting to give too much power to some public officials, as well as to increase their pay. Such officials, generally speaking, have not made any more progress in their ability to lead and properly administer the powers of their offices than Kentucky has made educationally and otherwise.

Kentuckians not finding what they believe to be a good reason for voting for a change will, naturally, let "good enough" alone on election day. Advocates of a change will, therefore, have to hurry with their best arguments to really convince the people that there is real need for a new Constitution.

Letters to the Editor

SHALL WE CALL A CONSTITUTIONAL MEET

Editor, The Jeffersonian:
 The people of Kentucky will vote "No" to save the present Constitution for the following reasons, to wit:

1. It has been tested for more than 50 years and found to be a true "Charter of the People," as it was intended to be by the great men who framed it. The fundamental principles of Liberty, Equality and Justice are its corner stones, and they are as true and sound now as when adopted.
2. All its important or controversial sections or provisions have been interpreted by the Court of Appeals. These decisions are now a part of the organic law itself, as much as if embodied in the original text—and will be a true guide to the General Assembly and the Courts from this time forward.

To undo all these decisions, to scrap the constructions of the Court, and to start all over again, would bring about confusion, disputes and contentions, and a world of litigation, which would be manifestly inimical to the public interests and a barrier in the pathway of real progress and social and industrial development.

3. The point dwelt upon so much by the advocate of a Convention to the effect that the limitation against salaries in excess of $3,000 prevents the State from securing the best talent in higher executive and judicial offices, and in the Department of Education, can and will be cared for by amendment, provided a reasonable limit is fixed in the amendment—say $15,000 per annum. The amendments rejected by the voters made the sky the limit, and it is obvious that the State will never be able to get to the Legislature such great power.

4. Knowing how most legislatures are dominated by the lobbyists and special interests, such a power given to it would result in such a saturnalia of log-rolling, trading, buying and selling and corruption as was never known since the time when Legislatures were brought up in the days when they had the power to elect the United States Senators.

To vest the legislative body with the unlimited power to fix and regulate salaries of all officials which is a backward step which it is hardly likely thought full voters would seriously consider.

5. The appeal to parents and teachers interested in education, that a new Constitution is needed to advance and promote the cause of education in Kentucky has misled quite a number of people, but it is obvious to any thoughtful person that this appeal is not based upon any solid or substantial grounds. It should be noted in this connection that the cause of education in Kentucky has advanced by leaps and bounds during the last seven years.

For the fiscal years, 1939-1940, the money derived from taxation for school purposes amounted to $600,521.36, and for the fiscal or school year, 1946-1947, the school fund has increased to the handsome sum of $1,477,817.49. These figures show a total increase in school revenues of $872,296, or an average increase per year of $124,711.

It is time to call a halt on these crusades for more and larger salaries on the part of special groups, and to consider the welfare and interest of all the people, instead of a favored few. There is not a single legitimate reason to change our Constitution that cannot be cared for by amendment.

It is notorious that men chosen from the cities are, as a rule, selected by lobbyists and special interests, and when these men are elected they naturally fall under greater obligation to the men who selected them, than to the people as a whole. This large group of men selected from the cities and the State would, no doubt, have the balance of power in a convention to frame a new Constitution.

These are only a few reasons why we should vote "no" on the proposition to call a Convention.

WALLACE A. MCKAY.

"AGAINST PROHIBITION"
 Editor The Jeffersonian:
 I congratulate you for printing "Wisdom of the Word" in The Jeffersonian. And the International Sunday School Lesson, I am sure some good will come of it. God may prosper you for it.

However, it is a shame that a pretty clean little paper like The Jeffersonian is otherwise, should carry those shameful, deceiving, liquor ads and be against prohibition.

May God open your eyes to the main things that is ruining our wonderful country. Please don't let those exploiters, the selfish liquor people, deceive you. Prohibition can be enforced!

KENNETH ELLIOTT.

Springdale News
 By Mrs. Annie Hahn

Mrs. Charles Maddox was given a surprise party Thursday, October 9, in honor of her birthday. Those present were Mesdames Ed Rodenbush, Mrs. W. C. McCarthy, Attilla Rodenbush, Fred Stutenberger, Annie Hahn, Carl Hayman, Arthur Neuhoff, William Freibert, Charles Maddox and Misses Oneda Nachand and Katie Stutenberger. Mrs. Hahn won the prize for making the most words from "Happy Birthday." Mrs. Ed Rodenbush won the prize for making the best braided pretzel. Other games were played, and winners were Mrs. Stutenberger and Mrs. Kaehin.

Mrs. Ruth Herr and children, Kenneth, Jr., Doris and Mary Jess spent last Sunday with Mrs. Hahn's mother, Mrs. Annie Hahn. Mrs. Charles Maddox has returned from Washington, D. C. She has been visiting her son, Willard Maddox, and his wife, Sue, and little daughter, Betty Lou.

Mrs. Peggy Schneidtmiller, who is attending Central College in Danville, spent last week end with relatives.

Because of the meat rationing, the date for the chicken supper and bazaar at Springdale Church has been changed from Thursday, November 20, to Saturday, November 22.

Mr. John Schwartz is building a large dam on his picnic grounds on Goose Creek.

The Episcopalians are making plans to build a church on Barber Lane and Highway 42. They have purchased a seven-acre tract. Mrs. Hewitt Simcoe is building a modern, up-to-date log house on her farm on Westport Road near Frys Hill.

The Worthington Homemakers' Club met last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Newton Simcoe.

Religion in Practice

Lesson for October 26, 1947

SUNDAY'S lesson takes us to one of the practical Christian preachers of the New Testament. Please open your Bible to the Epistle of James, and read the first two chapters. James was a man of great faith, but he realized, as we must realize, that faith is best expressed in works.

Then read Matthew 23: 23-34. When you have read these passages, you will then be ready for the construction of religion in everyday life.

A Cup of Cold Water

WHAT someone will be asking, can I do to show my desire to be of actual service, in the name of Jesus. Jesus tells us. He says that whoever shall give a cup of cold water in His name is doing the will of God.

There is a world that painfully waits for a cup of cold water. I have just returned from another trip through Europe. I was there in 1945, and I felt that the last possible expression of need, but the past summer I was startled to witness a still greater need.

The question that immediately came to mind as I observed conditions in Germany and England and other countries was just what was this. What can we do to meet such need? And the answer was ready at hand—give them what you have, in the name of Jesus.

Doers of the Word

JAMES makes much of practical religion. In this past summer he tells us that we are to be doers of the word and not mere sayers of the word, and he means the Word of God—the will of God.

Is there a misstatement in your class? Is there a girl in your class at school who suffers from some bitter criticism? This lesson would suggest to every Christian boy and girl to go in sympathetic understanding to such neighbors and help them to overcome these handicaps. Thus we become doers of the will of God.

Living Our Religion

WHAT we are determines what we think of our religion, not what we say about our religion. James tells us in Sunday's lesson that it is that very truth that our generation so much needs to get hold upon.

We have many perplexing situations in our world. Racial differences, differences regarding capital and labor, and so forth and so on.

How are these problems to be solved? By resolutions? We know that many such plans and resolutions have been adopted concerning these problems, but still the problems remain.

One Christian in any given community who applies the teaching of James to everyday life will start a train of events that will add up to the solution of any problem, social, economic or what not. We must translate our beliefs into action.

James goes on to assure us that when we undertake faithfully to live our religion, we may confidently claim the promise of God that if any man lack wisdom, let him ask of God who giveth liberally unto all men, and upbraideth not.

The conclusion of the whole matter, therefore, is to face life as we find it, taking into account the actual facts, and boldly and confidently tackling the job in the assurance that the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ is always sufficient for any and every situation.

The most excellent way of the Golden Rule is the answer to the whole matter. But the Golden Rule is important until it is translated into action.

And the best of it all is that it actually works. When someone asked Morrison what Christianity was doing for China, he replied, "Christianity is changing China into a community of God." That is precisely what this lesson will do for your community, if you apply its teachings to life as you find it.

What Kentucky Editors
AND OTHERS
Are Saying

HOW MUCH FOR EUROPE?
The story goes that at Paris they are reaching the conclusion that if the United States gives Europe a subsidy of $2,000,000,000 a year for 10 years, it will be helpful.

Originally, it was suggested that the United States put up $3,000,000,000 for four years. Whichever way you look at it the total is $20,000,000,000. And that gives warrant to Ernest Bevin's suggestion that the United States redistribute its gold because that gold can only be measured in terms of dollars. Another suggestion is that this subsidy means nothing because we send goods, not money. Therefore the money really stays in this country. If we distribute gold, according to this theory, the gold will come back to us.

What's wrong with these arguments is, first, that we are exporting our natural resources, iron, copper, steel, wood, etc., and that these are, on the whole, irreplaceable.

When we have no more, we shall become a dependent country as we were dependent upon Asia for tin and rubber at the start of the war.

Second, excessive exports, for free, result in shortages and high prices in this country. So we make our people pay twice: once, in the form of taxes; and the second time, in the form of high prices. — Chicago Herald-American.

"October in Kentucky is the most beautiful in the world," so say guests of Mrs. Richard McLean Taylor. They are her mother, Mrs. William R. Taylor, and sister, Mrs. Ethel T. Robinson, of Arlington, Va., and aunt, Miss Francis McLean, Washington, D.C. They are delighted with the Kentucky hospitality extended them.

Mother Nature!The Crude Is The Answer
To Phillips 66 Fine Motor Oils

Nature outdid herself when she produced the great Alaskan Brown Bear, and she was doing a mighty fine job when she made the crudes that go into Phillips 66 Motor Oils!

Ask any oil man what means in terms of protection for your engine. Yes, a fine crude... plus Phillips expert refining and practical experience... all these factors together turn out a smooth, tough, sturdy lubricant that's able to do a real lubricating job in your motor.

Phillips 66 Premium Oil is a brand new Phillips product. Detergent type and corrosion-resistant, Phillips 66 Premium Oil cleans, as it protects your engine.

And remember, too... Phillips 66 Motor Oil has given motorists years of satisfactory lubrication!

Look for the orange-and-black Phillips 66 shield!

Schools-or Desperate
Dummit's Promises?

THE GREAT OL' PROMISERS—Promises won't pay our teachers, build up our schools and teach our children. Kentuckians know to their sorrow there is no value to a promise made by a man who has completely reversed himself in two months!

The present Republican nominee for Governor has changed his mind so many times on the stump in the last few months that no one understands what he really proposes to do for education—if anything. For this reason they are now calling him Tweedledee Tweedle-Dummit.

THE GREAT NEED—Our children are Kentucky's greatest asset. They must be taught by well-trained and adequately-paid teachers. They must ride in buses that are safe, to buildings which are the best our citizens can afford. They have been kept waiting too long for decent equipment—while money piled up in the State Treasury and Republican stubbornness treasured action.

THE GREAT OPPORTUNITY—The Democratic program for the improvement of education in Kentucky is plain-spoken and straightforward — honest and consistent. In his opening campaign speech, at Morehead, Congressman Earle Clements, the Democratic nominee for Governor, said:

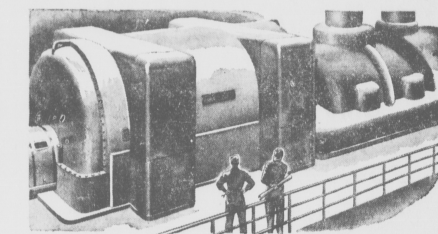

"The Republican nominee has frequently declared he was opposed to using any part of the unencumbered surplus in the State Treasury for the payment of teachers' salaries — retroactive or otherwise. Our party is committed to this appropriation for teachers' salaries, retroactive to the beginning of the present school year. The Republican candidate may or may not change his views. We shall not."

Why take a chance on more worthless promises?

BUILDING A GREATER LOUISVILLE WITH A
$23,000,000 ELECTRIC and GAS
EXPANSION PROGRAM

Louisville is growing and we are growing with it! Work is advancing on the electric and gas system equipment we have ordered for our expansion program for the next three years at an estimated cost of $23,000,000. This is in addition to the $23,000,000 we spent in the last seven years for improved electric and gas service for the Louisville area.

Why must we plan so far ahead? It takes approximately three years for a new electric turbine to be built and it must be ordered a long time ahead. One of these giants of 60,000-kilowatt capacity was added to our Paddy's Run Plant this year. Another has been ordered and delivery has been promised in 1949!

In 1946 more than 40 new plants located in Louisville. New homes are being completed each day. That's why your gas and electric company is continuing to build ahead as rapidly as still scarce equipment can be secured. We are looking ahead to a greater Louisville... with the best service at the lowest possible rates. And this is an important factor in modern industrial and community growth!

Three hundred and eighty-eight in Sunday School at Beechland Sunday.

The B.W.C. of the church met Tuesday evening and the W.M.S. Thursday of last week.

The Helping Hand Class will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. A. J. Miller, November 18 at which time they will have their usual private sale.

The quarterly meeting of the Long Run Baptist Association was held Wednesday at Ninth and O Baptist Church, a number of Beechland members attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roggenkamp of Cane Run Road had Mr. and Mrs. Moore as afternoon guests Sunday.

Mrs. Turner Campbell of Taylor County, who came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Craig Sunday, spent a few days this week in celebration of the second birthday of her little niece, name, Nina Margaret. Her birthday was Tuesday, October 21. The little lady's aunt on the paternal side, Miss Margaret Craig, who also claims the distinction of the middle name, Margaret and the grandmother, Mrs. Emma Craig were among the evening guests.

The little two year old is an outgoing little tot for her age and is very accurate in any statement she makes. She listened to the "Happy Birthday to you" as the writer gave it and leaving her mother at the phone, immediately began singing it.

Mrs. Lyman D. Scott left Tuesday accompanied by her sister, Mrs. H. C. Duncan, for their annual trip to West Baden, Ind.

Mrs. F. B. Smith's great-granddaughter, Beverly Mae Smith and mother came by Sunday morning to take her to Carle Avenue Baptist Church to hear evangelist Rev. Solomon Dowson, an old acquaintance, speak. He delivered an unusually good message.

Mrs. Smith was dinner and afternoon guest of the little girl's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Webster of Powell Avenue. The day was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. H. Roggenkamp was guest Tuesday afternoon of Rev. Hugh Brim and Mrs. Brim of McArthur Drive, Shelbyville Road.

Uncle Sam Says

Millions of my nieces and nephews are increasing their take-home pay by the simple, automatic Payroll Savings Plan. Let's take one example. Suppose you tell your employer that you want to take $6.25 of your weekly pay in bonds. In three weeks the accumulation of $18.75 will buy one $25 Savings Bond. Merely by holding these bonds to maturity in 10 years you are raising your take-home income $2.50 every week. It is obvious that the so-called deduction for Savings Bonds is not a deduction but a way for you to pick up and increase your earnings for your future use.

The one-way "walkie-talkies" permit listeners to follow the Assembly's proceedings in English, French, Chinese, Russian or Spanish by listening to a knob on the little black box, which contains a full-duplex radio receiver to which a pair of earphones is attached.

St. Washington News

By Mrs. T. H. Parrish

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Goin announce the marriage of their daughter, Billie Rhea, to Charles Thomas Porter, son of L. L. Porter, Fairmont. They were married at 7:30 p. m. October 11 at the home of Rev. W. E. Pound, the officiating minister. Mrs. Curtis Peacock, sister of the bride, and Mr. Peacock were attendants.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate families. They left for a brief trip to Chattanooga, and are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. Goin.

Mr. Porter's sisters will give a miscellaneous shower for them at 8 p. m. October 11 at the home of Mrs. Robert Owen.

Miss Neva Lois Lutes, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lutes, and William Groat of Shepherdsville were married October 10. They will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Goin.

Miss Betty Dooley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garner Dooley, and Collette Lutes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lutes, were married Friday night, October 17, at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Noah Benningfield. They are housekeeping in an apartment at the Troutman home.

Miss Mary Martin Rouse, who will be married October 25, was honored with two showers last week; one by Mrs. George Madison and one at the home of Mrs. Louis Roby.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lutes left Monday for a visit to the home of Mrs. Hugh Hurst in Florida. During their absence, their daughter, Mildred, will be in the care of the house and the two boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Owen were hosts to a reunion of Mr. Owen's immediate family. The guests were his two sisters, Mrs. Mary Harris and Mrs. Chester Gentry, all the children, grandchildren and in-laws except three. A pleasant gathering of well-known family to renew family ties which sometimes grow cold when we neglect these meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Porter recently held a Porter reunion at their home. The guests were present, a number were unable to attend because of sickness.

The W.S.C.S. had an all-day service last Thursday. At the morning hour, Mrs. Chester Porter finished presenting the study book by several of the interesting teachers in this work. In the afternoon, a playlet on world peace was given by several members. Three new members have been received recently: Mr. Anderson, Mrs. Raymond Purdy and Mrs. V. McAfee. Week of Prayer services will be observed the week of October 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Crest Hough have a fine boy, born October 17. Sorry to report some of our sick and convalescing members. We would like M. D. Jasper was worse Sunday morning, but some improvement Monday.

M. R. Porter who had to return to his bed is better.

E. S. Brookins is going to the city to be with relatives to look after his needs.

M. A. Collier is no better, and Mrs. Porter is nursing him.

Little Anita Dooley seems to be holding her own.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Randolph are with her sister, Mrs. G. B. Hill, and Dr. Hill, while Mr. Randolph is in the hospital at the Hill for a complication of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hall and family, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Moore and Mrs. James Sutherland, the latter from Bardstown, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brindwell.

T. H. Parrish had two unexpected but very welcome visitors last week. Rev. C. K. Dickey stopped by Tuesday, ate dinner and enjoyed a social hour in the home. Brother Dickey looks fine and always cheers us with his friendly visits. Thursday morning, Elzie McGee called, and their chat was of their school days down to the present time. Some brought laughter and others tears. Callers for the week were Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wigginton, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Porter, Mrs. George Porter, Dr. G. B. Hill and Messrs. M. A. Harris, John Brailhead, Vernon Moore and S. L. Roby.

A card from the J. C. Gentrys in Dade City, Fla., tells us they are pleasantly situated in a nice home with congenial people.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Jones, Mrs. George Porter, Dr. G. B. Hill and Messrs. M. A. Harris, John Brailhead, Vernon Moore and S. L. Roby.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McAfee and Mr. and Mrs. E. Pound and children spent last Sunday week with Mr. and Mrs. Barney Spurr in Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McAfee were recent week-end guests of Mr. McAfee's parents at Cahoon, Ky.

Betty Green, Cox's Creek, was with her mother last Tuesday of Phyllis Pound.

Fisherville News

By Mrs. Clarence Baskett

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Kirk and daughter, Amy, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Boston Friday night.

The fish fry which was held at the Fisherville School Saturday night for the benefit of the school was a huge success.

Little Misses Marilyn Ray and Gayle Weckley of Jeffersontown spent Saturday and Sunday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Weckley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Baskett were among guests entertained at dinner Monday night by Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Porter, Jr., of Jefferson.

Mrs. Clyde Spencer and granddaughters, Misses McGinnis of Auburn, visited friends here over the week end. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Guy Mackwell, who will spend a few days with her.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Gaddie entertained at dinner Sunday for the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carlbeths, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Baskett and daughter, Claire Hope; Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Bradbury, Misses Wilma and Louise Carlbeths and Judy Kessinger.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Benson and Miss Mary Holcav came last week with Mrs. C. L. Stansbury and one day with Mrs. F. Stansbury.

The new preacher for the Methodist Church is expected to arrive this week. E. E. Fisher gave us another good sermon Sunday morning, and the evening service by preacher from St. Matthews delivered a splendid sermon. Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Barnes brought the young preacher, and we are always glad to see them.

The Methodist Young Folks group are hosts tonight (Monday) to the zone district meeting.

SMOKE RINGS

The October sun continues to shine over the gridirons of Jefferson County, and according to Betty Redwine, teen-age supervisor of County Recreation, it's gonna shine on the gridirons themselves on November 15.

That's the date the Teen-Age Clubs of the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board will honor all of the football players of the six County high schools at a County-wide football dance.

The location of the dance is in the central part of the County at Okolona gymnasium—the best gridiron site to remember. All football players and their dates are the guests of the teen-agers, and there'll be a King and Queen Football selected.

Every Teen-Age Club in Jefferson County will hold its meeting that night to elect a County-wide scale at the "Warriors" stronghold. It takes a membership card and dues to gain entrance, so don't forget that card.

Says Betty, "Coaches, principals and their wives are also scheduled for an invitation to the big affair, which will feature a big 12-piece orchestra."

Didja get that and Smoke Rings sent you from the National Recreation Congress in New York? It was kinda rough on 'em today's tain't at the same time.

Three County gentlemen drew quite a bit of national acclaim for their civic-leadership in Jefferson County. You guessed right, these chaps were R. C. McDowell and County Commissioner E. P. White, Jr.

MEATLESS BUT NOT FISHLESS... Joseph Pruske of Chicago is pictured here as he weighs in an extra supply of red snappers for one of the new famous meatless Tuesdays—days when fish sales go swimmingly. Meatless Tuesday, as part of President Truman's food conservation program, is coupled with poultryless and eggless Thursday to make up America's effort to help alleviate hunger in Europe.

Fern Creek

I was very much surprised Friday afternoon when Mrs. Laura Howard and sister, Miss Nora Strong, and Mrs. Leonard Tyler and Mr. Jim McDonald of Okla-ho, who married Miss Clara Strong many years ago, paid me a visit. I was glad to see them.

Mr. Oscar Stivers has been off for some several days but is expected to go back today. Dr. Everett Rush was in attendance.

The Auxiliary met with Mrs. T. C. Copeland, Sr., Thursday night. Mrs. Copeland's wife expected to go to the fall conference which meets at the Bardstown Road Church October 25.

Mrs. Summitt and Mrs. Weber, who were hurt in the bus wreck a few weeks ago, are both at home again looking forward to several months of convalescence.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Moody visited with Mrs. Dennis Robertson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gentry took her father for a ride Sunday. Mr. Gentry had been so sick in the spring, we did not think he would ever be up again. He said he enjoyed the ride.

Mrs. Clarence Hawes has been entertaining Mrs. R. S. Grable of St. Louis. She returned home Saturday night.

Sadie Finley took supper with her sister, Mrs. Charlie Fox, Wednesday night.

Mrs. Harold Aligier of Jefferson, who married Mr. Tom Copeland, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. L. Neb and Mr. and Mrs. William Love, both of Louisville, spent the week end at Harrison Lake.

A party consisting of Rev. W. A. Benfield, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Benfield, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Copeland, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. L. Neb and Mr. and Mrs. William Love, both of Louisville, spent the week end at Harrison Lake.

Paul Bates and Kenneth Betsy went to Scottsburg, Ind., to visit Mrs. Laura Stewart and sister, Miss Elia Aligier.

Glad to see Mr. Allen Ellingsworth of Louisville at Beulah Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welsh and family called on Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Robertson Sunday night.

Dr. Rush has returned feeling better.

G.I. Wills Rose A Week to Girl He Couldn't Win

Leaves a Letter to Brother Giving Directions in Love Case.

RICHMOND, VA. — Like many other soldiers, Valentine Brown Lawless left a will when he went to war in 1944. There were the usual bequests providing for distribution of personal property. There also was a clause that directed that the cash residue of the estate be turned over to his brother, Edward Kirwan Lawless, for a special purpose. But the purpose was not defined in the will.

Valentine left a letter to his brother to be opened only in case of his death.

The 35-year-old army air forces sergeant was killed in a plane crash at Linz, Austria, in October, 1944.

The letter revealed that Valentine a number of years had been in love with a girl whom he had no hope of winning.

"I will continue to love her for the duration of my life," it said.

Shows Devotion.

In death, the letter continued, he planned to express his devotion to the girl, the cash residue of the soldier's estate—$2,000—was to be used to fulfill this wish.

Every week a forist was to send the girl one rose, a perfect rose.

The color did not matter. But the identity of the sender never was to be revealed.

"My idea," Valentine wrote to his brother, "is to furnish the girl with the pleasure of receiving a rose, not to have her think of me because I sent it to her."

Valentine's request became known when his sister, Margaret Lawless, contended that her brother's last request was "not practical" and asked the Virginia supreme court of appeals to set it aside.

Legal Squabble.

The sister and other heirs claimed that Valentine's will specified the "special purposes" had the effect of leaving the $2,000 in trust for Edward Lawless for the benefit of other heirs.

Edward contended, however, that carrying out the intention in his brother's letter was a matter of "conscience."

Previously, a lower court in Norfolk, where the will was made out, ruled that the soldier's funds had been left to Edward "individually and with no trust attached."

But Valentine's sister and other heirs appealed the decision to the higher court in an effort to stop the effect of the dead soldier's "perfect rose" to the girl who married another man and reportedly is living in the Tidewater section of Virginia.

Frauelin Is Jailed for
Phoning to Officer's Home

FRANKFORT, GERMANY. — Anne Marie Brenneis, 19, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $50 for "fraudulent mischievous" in making embarrassing telephone calls to the home of a United States army officer.

The comely German girl was contacted by an American military court at Heidelberg of having told the officer's wife over the telephone that she was a "close friend" of the officer and that he had "good beer" up on a date.

When she telephoned a second time, the officer, Capt. Earl Davis, trapped her by arranging a rendezvous in a place surrounded by military police.

Rapid Road Routs Thugs
And Saves $8,000 in Cash

PHILADELPHIA. — Harvey L. Campbell whipped out a pistol, beat three holdup men to the draw and saved $8,000 in cash and $15,000 in certified checks he was carrying.

He told police he had parked his car and was walking home when the men approached. One waved a gun.

"If that's the way you want it," Campbell said, "I have one of those too."

He fired four times, wounding two of the men before they fled in an automobile.

Later, police arrested two suspects after they applied for hospital treatment.

Sign of Changing Times;
Hair Nets Now for the Men

NEW YORK. — A sign in Du Brin's cosmetic store in mid-Manhattan indicated that the men's hairnets were for sale. Burnett Du Brin told a reporter the thing were common in Europe.

He said they were worn when dressing so the hair won't be messed up, and when sleeping.

Driving Record Is Spoiled
By a Long Missing License

MILWAUKEE. — William Crawford, 39, whose automobile struck pedestrian, told the judge it was his first traffic violation in 20 years.

Judge Harvey Neelan said he would consider leniency. But then he learned Crawford had driven those 20 years without a driver's license.

Crawford was fined $25.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 5, AT 10 A. M.

Owner has contracted with us to sell his 167 acre farm and all personal property.

Located 1 1/2 miles north of Lenora, Ky., 5 miles north of Deatsville, 3 1/2 miles south of Jackson Highway, on Deatsville and Lenora Road. See sign 1,000 feet north of Lenora store to farm.

FARM contains 167 acres. 60 acres—first class bottom land, 30 acres alfalfa, 8 acres corn—will make 75 bushels per acre, remainder in hay; 107 acres upland, 70 acres in pasture, remainder in timber. Watered by creek, 2 never-failing springs, 2 ponds. Fencing good.

IMPROVEMENTS — 6-room log house (very comfortable home) telephone, cellar, hen house, smoke house, brooder house, garage, 3-room tenant house, 2 stock barns, corn crib. All buildings in good condition with metal roofs.

23 head of Black Angus cattle: 8 cows and calves, 3 Angus heifers, fresh in spring.

"If that's the way you want it," Campbell said, "I have one of those too."

He fired four times, wounding two of the men before they fled in an automobile.

Later, police arrested two suspects after they applied for hospital treatment.

Sign of Changing Times;
Hair Nets Now for the Men

NEW YORK. — A sign in Du Brin's cosmetic store in mid-Manhattan indicated that the men's hairnets were for sale. Burnett Du Brin told a reporter the thing were common in Europe.

He said they were worn when dressing so the hair won't be messed up, and when sleeping.

Driving Record Is Spoiled
By a Long Missing License

MILWAUKEE. — William Crawford, 39, whose automobile struck pedestrian, told the judge it was his first traffic violation in 20 years.

Judge Harvey Neelan said he would consider leniency. But then he learned Crawford had driven those 20 years without a driver's license.

Crawford was fined $25.

Erosion Prevented By Sound Practice

Growing Crops Help In Saving the Soil

By W. J. DRYDEN

The late spring frosts and heavy rains made many farmers realize that losses from water erosion can be serious. Michigan State College specialists list four rules to reduce water erosion on farm land.

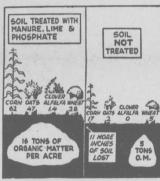

1. Never leave the ground bare longer than necessary. Vegetation is important over the winter.
2. As the slope of the land increases, use more crops of grass and small grains and fewer cultivated crops.
3. If medium sloping land is cultivated, practice strip cropping, cross slope seeding and tilling, and use soil waterways and terraces.
4. Keep the soil in as high a state of fertility as possible. Add lime where necessary, use commercial fertilizers and add humus through natural manures, green manures or crop residues.

Soil Building

The difference between soil building and soil mining is shown in the chart below. Soil building means increasing the soil's organic matter and plant food supply and maintaining high yields. It means feeding the soil and letting the soil feed the crops, rather than trying to feed each individual crop.

The comparative results shown here were obtained at the Ewing Experiment Station, Illinois. One plot had no soil treatment since the field was established in 1910. The other plot had large amounts of lime, phosphate and potash to get heavy stands of deep-rooted legumes. Com stubs have been returned to this plot. The rotation on both plots has been corn, oats, clover and vetch.

Crop yields covering a four-year rotation tell the story. Corn production on the fertilizer plot was four times greater than on the untreated field; oats nearly four times greater; wheat about eight times greater. Clover yield on the fertilized plot was 1.9 tons per acre; the untreated plot is too acid to grow legumes.

Despite the greater amounts of nitrogen and organic matter used in producing the higher yields, the fertilized plot still contains 4 1/2 tons more organic matter and 40 pounds more nitrogen than the untreated field.

Farm Hints That Pay In Better Products

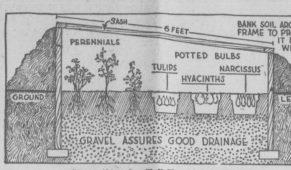

The Cornell results are in line with earlier tests of vitamins for call cures in Michigan and Ohio. Even though the use of vitamins lacks encouragement, there is promise in another direction—the salts drugs. Sulfanilamide has been found helpful. Sulfanilamide, one of the faster acting salts, which has been used against dysentery in humans, also has been used successfully in call cures treatment. In fact, a certain salt has been found with kaolin and pectin was more effective than either sulfanilamide or sulfaguanidine alone.

Don't use kerosene for tyne fees. Use paper tyne instead. When binder twine is used pieces of the fiber break off and get into the wool. The twine to take color when dyed. Who loses? The sheepman.

Scientists Develop New Slow Fertilizer

A new, slow-acting nitrogen fertilizer which feeds crops over a long period has been developed by USDA soil scientists. The new product, a series of combinations of urea and formaldehyde, is called "uniform." Since both principal components are in short supply, commercial production will be small for a short time. Early reports from field and greenhouse have been very satisfactory.

Build Cold Frame Now For Use Fall and Winter

Suggestions for Fall Use of Cold Frames.

Every complete garden needs a cold frame. It is a most useful tool, not merely in the spring, but all year around. If you lack this aid to garden success, fall is a good time to build it, and the illustration shows how it may be constructed and put to immediate use. The cold frame is a simple structure. Hyacinths, early tulips, narcissi and daffodils are the principal crops which need a cold frame situation to encourage early root formation. Every time in the frame bed in the pots you expect to grow them in, and when roots have developed sufficiently bring them in doors for the quick growth of the tops and blossoms.

The frost-free fall bring to mind problems of harboring perennial seedlings. If you planted them they will not need seed some additional protection, and the cold frame will provide it. The best all-around method is to pot the plants, and set them into the frame. Such treatment assures them a few more weeks of growth, and will enable them to benefit from extra warmth in the spring and get an early start. They will also be easily transplanted.

Two lovely perennials which are difficult to grow without protection are the foxgloves with their starry spires, and the Canterbury bells, although they are perfectly hardy so far as cold weather is concerned, they are very susceptible to wet weather, and the danger of freezing. There is only one safe way to grow them in cold climates and that is by wintering them in a cold frame, where they will be safe from wet and the changes in temperature will be tempered by the glass of the frame. Transplant them to the frame in the fall about 2 inches apart each way.

Farm Bu. Cooperates In Food Saving Program

The Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, said J. E. Stauffer, executive secretary this week, "is strongly supporting the food conservation and volunteer rationing program of our government, in order to alleviate hunger, suffering and misery in the war stricken countries of Europe and Asia, by to help prevent the spread of Commission which follows in the wake of hunger and misfortune."

"Farmers have been asked to yield first place to any other group when it comes to patriotism in time of war or prompt action in time of misfortune, whatever nature, and in this great crisis in Europe they are giving wholehearted cooperation to the effort to conserve and produce food so that the people of starvation-stricken areas may be moved while the people of our own country can continue to be adequately fed," his statement continued.

"The farmers of Kentucky realize that the volunteer rationing may mean some decline in the use of certain commodities, but they consider this of small importance compared to saving thousands of human lives and preventing untold suffering. They likewise realize the importance of putting the total 1948 National goal for wheat is 75,000,000 bushels, approximately 1 million more bushels than the 1947 goal but about the same as 1947 indicated plantings. With yields as good as those of recent years, the 1948 National wheat acreage goal would produce a fourth successive crop of more than a billion bushels.

The 1948 National rye goal is 2,450,000 acres, more than half a million acres more than the 1947 harvest. Production of rye has been below domestic and foreign requirements in recent years, and the increase is needed to fill the prospective demand in 1948.
